Current Trading and Outlook

Market trading activity picked up at the start of 2019. After that, market value traded slowed down as geopolitical developments influenced investor appetite to trade. As a result of this, market value traded fell back versus the second half of 2018. Growth in global ETP assets under management on the other hand picked up again. Overall the underlying trends in the ETP market remained healthy.

Flow Traders’ 1H19 results follow the disciplined execution of its growth strategy, as the growth of its value traded led to market share gains. This was the result of growth in venues connected to and growth in the number of counterparties and products, especially in APAC and the Americas. Regulatory developments regarding the implementation of IFR/IFD are underway and EBA with ESMA and national governments are now working on implementing the necessary legislation. Based on current drafts available, Flow Traders anticipates it will have a neutral to slightly positive impact on its business. Taking all this into account, Flow Traders will further continue to execute on its growth strategy to maximize NTI growth.

Management Board statements

CEO Dennis Dijkstra stated:

“In 2Q19 Flow Traders continued to build on the foundation presented during our Capital Markets Day in April 2019. From a technological and regulatory perspective, financial markets have become more efficient and transparent in the first half of 2019, allowing market participants to provide liquidity in the most optimal way, based on technology and pricing while maintaining a low risk profile. In that context, Flow Traders’ strategy is focused on gaining scale through diversification of trading and improving efficiency. By improving and expanding our portfolio of products traded, while at the same time continue growing our presence in the global ETP ecosystem, we optimize our growth potential. Our 1H19 performance is reflective of that intention. While keeping a tight grip on cost growth, Flow Traders grew its global value traded relatively more than the market. The financial performance tracks the profit potential in the market and confirms the long term growth path we want to follow to maximize NTI growth.”

Chief Trading Officer Folkert Joling added:

“In that goal to maximize our NTI growth, we grew the number of products traded, the number of counterparties set up and the number of venues. This resulted in a growth of market share in the first 6 months of 2019, achieved both in ETPs and non-ETP products, across assets classes including currencies, crypto and fixed income. Flow Traders realized an NTI of € 117m over that same period, with an increase in overall Value Traded. Especially in the US we saw a good pickup in trading Fixed Income ETPs. As such, and in light of our future growth strategy, we have recently hired a number of experienced professionals in different areas. Flow Traders will continue to invest in its resources and infrastructure to support its ambition of eventually becoming a global one-stop shop liquidity platform.”
